Headteacher: Miss V Townsend

Headteacher's Comment:

This week, each class had the opportunity to participate in a SCARF workshop, engaging in valuable learning experiences that support their personal, social, and emotional development. Through engaging activities and discussions, the children explored important topics related to their personal, social, and emotional well-being, they learnt about friendships, emotions, staying safe, and making healthy choices. The SCARF website has a parent portal where you can find many resources to help support your children at home.

<https://www.coramlifeeducation.org.uk/family-scarf> Thank you to those parents that attended the session this morning. We hope you found this useful.

More children are receiving their Reading Owl awards – well done to everyone! Keep up the great work and continue to enjoy reading. It's wonderful to hear the children so passionate about books and stories. Keep reading and exploring new adventures!

I know I mention attendance quite a bit, but it really is so important for your child's learning and development. Regular attendance is vital for your child's learning, development, and well-being. Missing sessions can impact their progress, friendships, and routine. Every day in school provides valuable experiences, so please ensure your child attends regularly to make the most of their learning opportunities. Forest School provides valuable learning experiences for children, supporting their development through outdoor exploration and play. As a reminder, children will be going outside in all weather conditions, including rain. Please ensure they have warm, waterproof clothing so they can fully enjoy their sessions.

We are committed to supporting our children by providing the best resources to enhance their learning experiences, whether at a table or outdoors during continuous provision. A huge thank you to F Davis Tree and Landscape Services for their generous donation, which will help us further enrich our Early Years provision. Thank you! Please be mindful when parking outside the school, as some of our children walk home alone. We also kindly ask that you be considerate of our neighbours when dropping off and picking up. Thank you for your cooperation and support in keeping our school community safe and respectful.

In preparation for Parents Evening, we invite you to join us next Wednesday evening for our Parent Book Look. This is a great opportunity to review your child's progress, celebrate their achievements, and gain insight into their learning journey ahead of your meeting with their teacher. We look forward to welcoming you! This will begin at 15:15 straight after school.

Thank you for your continued support. We look forward to seeing you next week. Have a lovely weekend!
